Here on the North Coast of California, we're getting some much needed rain, the daffodils are blooming, and the robins are busy.

I found some great new fabrics to welcome in the spring season – CHICKENS! This line by Quilting Treasures has some adorable and wacky fowl – like this Hen and Chicks panel - to brighten up an apron, a tote bag, or a table runner.

Panel – approx. 2/3 yard; $8

The companion fabrics are also unique and would make a fun addition to a kitchen-themed project. Picture one of them as a border to the Hen and Chicks table runner! And Easter is coming up – perfect!

I also have some very unique fabrics from M&S Textiles in Australia. These fabrics were designed by Aborigine artists who are paid fair market wages. The colors are vibrant! These fabrics are all $12 per yard.

These first two are Sandhill – I have this in red, white, and black.

And I have this Dropping Seeds in black.

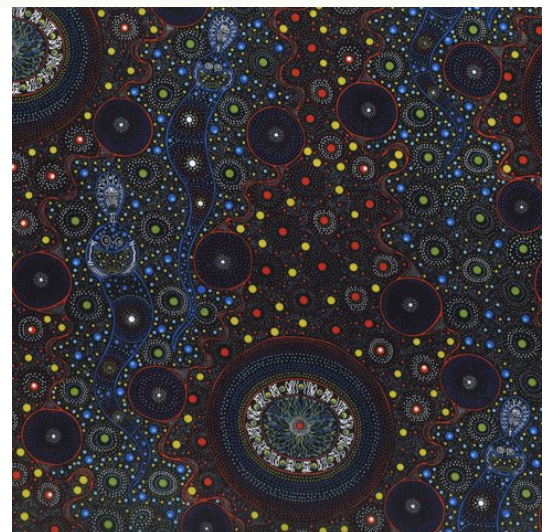

These three would all make great border fabrics. So much movement!

Then, I have this wonderful Kingfisher Camp by River; the blues of the birds and the river just seem to dance off the fabric.

Bush Banana (left) and Spiritual Woman (right) are stunning – these photos don't do them justice.

And I have lots more of these amazing prints to choose from! You just have to see them!
